

The Intersectionality of Black and Queer.

NEWSLETTER

August 08, 2019

Share Your Craft!

Greetings Family,

My heart is heavy as I share that the incomparable Toni Morrison, one of my literary icons who inspires me to be a stronger writer, has transcended this physical realm. I pray that each of us can learn from her guidance and share our truths to help make this world we inhabit better and brighter.

I'm not sure if it's true for you, but July was an emotionally strenuous month for me. With that understanding, I was very excited to welcome August! Like the new year, or a new day, each month brings its own energies and transformations.

In July we featured an interview with the EP of an exciting new podcast that we're thrilled for all of you to enjoy! Also, we are still hiring for interns! Please share the word and recommend anyone you think would be a great fit.

Finally, our interview with Aina Breiyon went live earlier today so check it out to learn more about the artist formerly known as Temper.

See below to know what's happening on the website, in the community, and with our EIC.

On the Website

- [A Closer Look at the Evolution of Aina Brei'Yon \[Interview\]](#)
- 'Staying in Love': Thou Shalt Know When to go Back and Get a Good Thing!
- The Chills! Watch The Newest Trailer For 'Queen & Slim'
- ["Be Your Own Dyke" 'Sex, Love & Plasdick' Podcast \[Interview/Review\]](#)
- A Black Man Will Head the Human Rights Campaign
- 20 Questions Book Tag

In the Community

- Magic Hour reached its funding goal!
- All my NYC people, on 8/20 there will be a Pose watch party along with the launch of a new web series.

With Our EIC

- Porscheoy Brice is struggling to finish her novel--send good vibes her way! In the meantime, here is an interview she's working on that will be coming to the website:
 - What is it like to be a masculine-of-center lesbian in the United Arab Emirates?

Food For Thought: "If there's a book that you want to read, but it hasn't been written yet, then you must write it." - Toni Morrison

- Porscheoy Brice, Editor-in-Chief